

Practising Persuasive Language Game

Practise composing persuasive argument sentences with this fun and engaging persuasive language game.

How To Play:

You will need a dice and some counters to play. Workbooks and pens or pencils are optional.

Roll the dice and move your counter forward along the game board. Pick up a topic card and decide if you agree or disagree with it. Using the sentence starter that you have landed on, compose a persuasive argument sentence for the chosen topic. Say your argument out loud or write it down in your workbook.

Practising Persuasive Language Game

Weekends
should be three days long.

Strawberries are the best fruit.

Children should be banned from watching TV.

Summer is the best season.

Parents spend too much time on their phones.

Animals should not be kept in the zoo.

Swimming lessons should be compulsory for every child.

Football is the best sport.

Mathematics is the hardest subject.

Cats make the best pets.

Everyone should brush their teeth
twice a day.

It is OK not to tell the truth.

Recycling is not really that important.

Teachers should wear school uniforms.

Movies are better than books.

Shopping centres should not charge
for parking.

The government should provide free fruit for all school children.

Our school should have more play
equipment.